

MEET OUR ANIMALS

Introducing: Sally the White Pony

Sally came to Diamond Forest Cottages in 2014 to be a friend for Katie who was lonely. Sally used to be on a horse stud but she wasn't having foals anymore so they no longer wanted her. A Vet in Greenbushes found out that Sally was no longer wanted and rescued her hoping to find her a new owner.

Sally was just perfect for us because she was just the right size for Katie. Her original name was White Horse Glamour but we decided to call her Sally because that was the name of the Vet that rescued her.

Did you know?

- Ponies can live to about 35 years old. We think Sally is in her early 20s but we are not sure
- Ponies' height is measured in hands. Sally is 10 hands high which means she is quite small. Not as small as Katie who is only 8 hands high
- Ponies develop a thick winter coat for winter- like Sally has in the picture above. In summer that coat falls out leaving Sally with a nice smooth coat and lots of white hair all over the paddock

Our Secret

Sally is very head shy which means that she doesn't like to be touched about the head or caught with a halter but if you are patient and quiet she will come closer and maybe take an apple from your hand.
